DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 4,5 and 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 4,5 and 7-10 are multiple dependent claims. For purposes of examination, each claim will be considered to be dependent on Claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-6 and 8-10 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Nakamura et al. (US Patent 5403873).

Nakamura et al. (US Patent 5403873) teaches a composition comprising a conductive plastisol for use in a molded article wherein a non conductive polymer particle is coated with a conductive polymer (Abstract). The non conductive polymers can include polymethylmethacrylate and polyvinyl chloride (Col. 2, lines 6-7) and the conductive polymer can include polyaniline (Col. 2, line 50) and graphite (Col. 3, line 8).

Nakamura is relied upon as disclosed above. However, Nakamura does not teach the use of a lignosulfonic acid doped polyaniline polymer in the composition as required by Claim 6.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed doped polyaniline since such polyanilines are notoriously well known in the art and Applicant has not established the criticality of the selection of this particular type of conductive polymer.

6. Claims 1,2,5-7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kulkarni et al. (US Patent 5217649).

Kulkarni et al. (US Patent 5217649) is a blend composition comprised of an intrinsically conductive polymer blended with a thermoplastic polymer and a plasticizer (Abstract). The composition can be used for shielding and electrostatic dissipation applications (Col. 4, line 26) which Examiner construes as being a coating embodiment. The thermoplastic polymer can include polyvinyl chloride (Col. 4, line 33) and the conductive polymer can include doped polyaniline which can be doped with organic sulfonic acids (Col 4, line 31).

Kulkarni is relied upon as disclosed above. However, Kulkarni does not teach a lignosulfonic acid doped polyaniline as required by Claim 6.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed doped polyaniline since such polyanilines are notoriously well known in the art and Applicant has not established the criticality of the selection of this particular type of conductive polymer.
